Research Awards

The GPSO research award is offered through a competitive process for graduate and professional students at Indiana University-Bloomington. It is given to help support research expenses incurred in connection with academic research, such as travel costs related to field, archival or laboratories research, payment for research related services, and purchase of research related supplies. Expenses that are not supported are typing and duplicating of dissertations, normal living expenses, and travel costs for conferences or workshops.

For Spring 2010 the GPSO will award 6 Research Awards: two $1,000 awards and four $500.

Consideration for Spring 2010 Research Awards will be given for research conducted during the 2010-2011 academic year.

The application deadline is Friday, February 19th, 2010 @ midnight.

For more information and access to the application, please visit: <http://www.iu.edu/~gpso/Research-Grants.php>

Travel Awards

The GPSO Travel Award is given to help support travel expenses to conferences at which a student's work will be presented (i.e. speeches, posters or interactive design), or to help support travel to workshops, special trainings, competitions or auditions that will benefit the student professionally. Funds may be used for registration fees, presentation materials, transportation, and lodging/food associated with the conference, workshop, training, competition or audition.

For Fall 2009 the GPSO is providing an estimated $5,000 in Travel Awards: 6 awards at $500 each and 8 awards at $250 each.

The application deadline is Friday, February 19th, 2010 @ midnight.

For more information and access to the application, please visit: <http://www.iu.edu/~gpso/travel-award.php>

Conference Awards

The GPSO Conference Award supports local events benefiting graduate and professional students on campus. The purpose of this service is to provide academic support and professional development for graduate and professional students on the IUB campus.

The GPSO anticipates awarding a total of $1,000 in Fall Awards and $1,000 in Spring Awards.

The award amount per event is based on need (maximum of $250).

GPSO Conference Funding is awarded on a rolling basis until funds are exhausted. Due to this, there is no application deadline.

We encourage all IUB academic departments to consider applying for this award when planning their next graduate-student oriented academic conference.

For more information and access to the application, please visit: <http://www.iu.edu/~gpso/conference-support>.
