Professor Don Hossler presents at U.S. Department of Education Technical Symposium

Don Hossler, Indiana University School of Education professor and director of the Center for Postsecondary Research, was part of an expert panel presenting at a U.S. Department of Education technical symposium on a potential ratings system for higher education institutions.

For more information about the event:

A summary of symposium proceedings, as well as other resources identified by presenters and attendees, will be published on the Department’s college affordability and completion website http://www.ed.gov/college-affordability.

HESA Research Series

HESA is hosting five prominent scholars of higher education this spring. Anne-Marie Núñez and Sam Museus presented their research to faculty and students in February; the remaining scholars include:

Frankie Laanan, April 18
Richard Reddick, April 25
Leticia Oseguera, May 14

Each session takes place from 2-3:30 pm and includes a presentation of research by the visiting scholar, a one-on-one dialogue between the scholar and a HESA faculty member about the scholar’s research, and time for Q&A with the audience.

In this issue:

| Don Hossler at Dept. of Ed. Symposium | 1 |
| HESA Research Series | 1 |
| Upcoming Events | 1 |
| Personal Successes | 2 |
| Photo Highlights | 3 |

Upcoming Events

Access Without Support is Not Opportunity by Vincent Tinto
Wednesday, March 5th, 4-6 p.m., IUPUI Campus Center Theater http://ctl.iupui.edu/Workshops-Events/Events/CTLLectureSeries/2014-Tinto

Lectures on Race and Global Thinking in Higher Education by Jonathan Jansen, University of the Free State, South Africa
- Nearness by Resemblance: Racial Identification and Transformation in the Wake of Apartheid, Thursday, March 6, 2-3:30pm, Oak Room, IMU

IU HESA Receptions at ACPA and NASPA
NASPA: Monday, March 17, 7-8:30 p.m., Hilton, Holiday Ballroom (5)
ACPA: Monday, March 31, 7:30-9 p.m., Westin Indianapolis, Capitol II
Personal Successes

Dr. Helen Grace Ryan
Dr. Ryan was invited to join Dr. Deb Kladivko, University of South Carolina-Aiken, Dr. Joelle Carter, Western Kentucky University, and Dr. Danielle Molina, Mississippi State University, on a conference-sponsored panel about women in higher education and student affairs at the annual SACS Conference.

JT Snipes
JT presented “Black Atheist: A Modest Proposal Reconsidered” at the Jon C. Dalton Institute on College Student Values in Florida.

Shavonne Holton
Shavonne presented at the IMPACT Conference in Valparaiso on “Civic Minded Programming: Using the ‘Civic Minded Graduate’ to Deepen Civic Learning Among College Students” with her assistantship supervisor. The presentation included the Service Learning program Shavonne developed and piloted this year to encourage local youth to develop service behaviors early.

Jessica Harris and Jasmine Haywood
Jessica and Jasmine will be presenting "You Got That Good Hair! Hair as a Racial Signifier for Two Women of Color in the Academy" at Purdue’s Interdisciplinary Hair Symposium on Feb 25.

Kelly Grab and Jon Riveire
Kelly and Jon presented "Report & Support: Helping Student Staff Navigate the Role of Mandatory Reporting" at the Association of Student Conduct Administrators conference in St. Petersburg, Florida in February 2014.

Jon Riveire
Jon presented "More than Grunt Work: Getting the Most Out of Your Graduate Interns" at the Association of Student Conduct Administrators conference in St. Petersburg, Florida in February 2014.

Dr. Helen Grace Ryan
Dr. Ryan was invited to join Dr. Michael Mardis, University of Louisville, Dr. Howard Bailey, Western Kentucky University, Dr. Dave Parrott, Texas A&M University, and Dr. Doug Searcy, University of Mary Washington, on a panel discussing the challenges and successes of threat assessment teams, behavioral intervention teams and care teams at the annual Southern Association for College Student Affairs (SACS) Conference.
The HESA master’s students coordinated another successful HESA Outreach! Led by the efforts of Outreach Co-Chairs Becki Bleikamp and Matt Fenstermaker, many great prospective students visited campus February 12-15 and 19-22.