The IUB graduate certification program in special education offers primarily online coursework leading to a license in High Incidence disabilities (Mild Intervention). Based on special education professional standards, the courses in this program address the knowledge, skills, and dispositions needed for special education teachers working with high incidence disabilities in today’s classrooms. The program focuses on teaching methods and materials, cultural diversity, management and intervention, collaborative strategies, resource and service utilization, and other instructional approaches that can maximize student success in school and community life. One of the primary goals of this program is to prepare teachers to work in inclusive school and community settings. Although inclusive settings are a focus for this program, this program also encompasses other types of special education arrangements for high incidence disabilities, such as resource and self-contained settings. The final semester of the program students complete a semester student teaching in their practicum setting.

SCOPE OF THE MILD INTERVENTION LICENSE

This license in Mild Intervention is limited to K-6 elementary or 5-12 secondary license. Students must focus their coursework on a particular level of education. Student teaching is required for students who are seeking an initial license in special education.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS

Depending on prior experience and coursework, credits will vary to complete a license in the area of Mild Intervention. The program is recommended to be completed with a cohort group and students must have permission from a faculty advisor to take courses out of sequence. The following is a suggested sequence of courses for each semester of the program. (Note: SPEDFIST stands for Special Education for Indiana Students Today; CoT stands for Community of Teachers. Students in both programs take seminars together)

REGISTRATION

Registration periods for coursework vary from semester to semester. For continuing students these usually fall around the first week in April for the fall semester, the third week in October for the spring semester, and the third week in March for summer school. New student registration typically occurs a week before the session begins. Students can obtain specific information about course offerings, schedules and registration procedures from the IU web pages.

IMPORTANT COMPONENTS TO ENROLLMENT AND EARNING CREDITS

Field-Based Experiences with Mentor Teacher: This program incorporates ongoing field-based experiences so that students can practice skills in situ. Finding a mentor and affiliating with this person throughout the program is one of the cornerstones of the program. Courses are designed to be completed in a practicum setting with the support of an experienced teacher. Students in the program will spend the first semester of the program finding a mentor and practicum site. Students wishing to complete an initial license will student teach at the completion of the program in their mentor’s classroom.

Portfolio: All students will complete a portfolio designed to reflect their understanding of high incidence disabilities and appropriate teaching strategies in high incidence special education settings.

Seminars: Seminar activities are focused on building a community of learners and the opportunity to reflect critically around teaching with fellow colleagues. Students will complete portfolio expectations each semester of a CoT seminar.

Required Technology: All students will need regular access to a computer and a high-speed internet connection. In addition, a webcam and headset is required so students can meet with instructors and fellow students online. More detailed information is available on our website regarding software requirements for the online portion of the program. (http://education.indiana.edu/spedfist/Newstudents/tabid/13025/Default.aspx#technology)

Course Schedule: Students may use the course schedule included in this guide for general program planning. Exact listings, times, and locations for courses may be obtained in the Schedule of Classes on IU Registrar’s web page: http://www.indiana.edu/~registra/.
