Faculty Qualified to Teach in Graduate Programs

Instructors teaching in graduate programs should hold the terminal degree determined by the discipline and have a record of research, scholarship or achievement appropriate for the graduate program. At the doctoral level, the instructor's record should be commensurate with doctoral expectations.

Faculty mentoring advanced doctoral students in co-teaching situations at the graduate level must act as primary instructor of the course, actively oversee the teaching activities of the co-teaching student, and directly assess the performance of the students taking the course.
