New Course Proposals
L121 Academic Writing for Multilingual Students 3 credit hours BL
P: Successful completion of English Language Improvement courses and workshops requisite to attempting to meet the Composition Proficiency Requirement. A course in academic composition designed to improve the reading, writing, and critical thinking skills of students whose first language is not English and whose academic interests would be better served by taking two composition courses rather than one. Emphasis will be placed upon reading and writing within the multiple rhetorics of the academy; students will practice, through revision, three essential academic skills and rhetorical tasks: summary, analysis, and argument. Another emphasis will be upon surface features typically associated with writing outside the first language. L121 will be built around a sequence of short essays, many revised in light of thoughtful criticism by the instructor. Special attention will be paid to the demands of writing in American universities, with emphasis upon practices of attribution. This course is not designed to fulfill the Composition Proficiency Requirement, but rather to complement English W131 Multilingual by serving as practice ground for students not yet prepared to meet the demands of that course. Placement will be determined through cooperation with Second Language Studies and the Department of English.

U215 - Foundations for Undergraduate Success at Research Universities 3 credits BL
The course will challenge students to critically think about themselves and their roles as learners at a research university; develop cognitive, study, and communication skills necessary for academic success as a college student; and, engage in personal, educational, and career exploration strategies leading to clear plans for success at Indiana University and beyond.
