Course Changes: W301, W401, Integrating Technology Into Teaching

- 1. Course Change Request: Diana Lambdin brought course changes which had been approved last year but needed to be amended to include a prerequisite. After a brief discussion of the wording, the change was unanimously approved.
- 2. Informational Item: Diana Lambdin shared a PowerPoint Presentation, providing an overview of the Teacher Education program.
Covered in this presentation were discussions of the highly successful NCATE review, the challenge of integrating Indiana's k-12 standards into the program, an overview of the Transition to Teach Program, Minors and Endorsements (including the changes involved in transitioning from Rule 46-47 to Rule 2000), PeopleSoft and an overview of the Armstrong Teacher Educator Program. In the discussion of PeopleSoft, Jill Shedd noted the challenges of easing the transition and asked for patience in the months to come. Diana Lambdin discussed the need to consider the size and quality of IUB Teacher Education programs.
- 3. Proposed Management 2003-2004:
Terry Mason provided a brief rationale for the changes proposed in the ways in which CTE meetings are conducted. Specifically, the idea for an Agenda Committee was proposed to create more space within CTE meetings for the discussion of larger, policy-driven questions rather than administrative detail. Importantly, program changes would only be discussed twice a semester. Lissa May, representing the School of Music, noted that this could become problematic to coordinate scheduling between the two schools. Diana Lambdin proposed as a solution that there could be some leeway and flexibility in such situations. Tim Niggle moved to accept the guidelines and Lynne Boyle-Baise seconded the motion. Diana Lambdin and Terry Mason both volunteered for the Agenda Committee and Terry Mason offered to send an email to solicit for a third volunteer.
PASSED UNANIMOUSLY.

4. Creation of Sub-Committees:

Terry Mason proposed a sub-committee to review proposals for research related to the impact of k-12 standards. Referring to the letter from Dean Gonzales, Terry Mason pointed out that the Dean has proposed 100,000$ for standards research. Tim Niggle suggested that sub-committees be allowed to determine the scope and dimension of their inquiry. Tim Niggle also suggested looking at the two-part admissions process. Terry Mason also reminded the group that the funds from Dean Gonzalez should be utilized. Terry Mason concluded the meeting by noting that sub-committee decisions can be made later and that he would send out an email.
